3. The BOB persons were fact gathering for NRT background primarily, but they were particularly interested in the differences in target selection problems between the two areas, and what were some of the significant limitations of the collection systems. Additionally, there was some inconclusive discussion with regard to determining resolution and timeliness requirements.

4. It developed that there was no real need for [] or my presence although the discussions were interesting. No follow-up actions on our part are anticipated at this time.
